As the demand for health care professionals grows, hospitals are finding innovative ways to train the next generation of students. Discover how the Healthcare Explorers Internship Program at ECMC, in Buffalo, N.Y., offers high school students a unique, immersive summer experience to explore diverse health care careers. As Western New York's only level I adult trauma center and a regional leader in transplantation, cancer care, and orthopedics, ECMC provides students with hands-on exposure across more than 12 specialties. This program, which has engaged more than 240 students from 50+ schools, helps students discover the full spectrum of health care professions while enhancing their resumes and building valuable networks.
